

Music 102 – Spring 2010
CRN 20325

Richard Colunga – richard.colunga@imperial.edu

Meeting Schedule

Time: Monday 6:30-9:40 pm in room 314

Course Content

A music course designed to introduce students to musical literature and will include listening to basic European and American repertory.

Student Learning Outcome

At the conclusion of the course, students will be able to learn and use critical listening skills to discuss and critique a musical work.

Assessment: Rubric

Institutional Outcomes: ISLO1, ISLO2, ISLO4

Text

To receive proper course credit, you must have your own textbook which you can purchase at the bookstore as soon as possible. The name of the textbook is Musical Appreciation (with CD ROM included), by Roger Kamien (6th brief edition).

Course Requirements

The final grade is an averaged accumulation of any of the following: listening reviews, concert attendance, chapter evaluations, and the final exam. Success in class depends on you. Reading the class material textbook and participating in classroom discussions is a necessary part of the class lecture. Take notes in class. In-class take home quizzes and homework assignments will be given based upon on the reading material and information presented in lecture.

Accommodations

Any student with a documented disability who may need educational accommodations should notify the instructor or the Disabled Student Programs and Services (DSPS) office as soon as possible. The DSPS office is located in the Health Sciences Building, room 2117. The telephone number is 355-6312.

Please Read Carefully!

Class attendance is very important. Attend class every Monday night. A student will be excluded from further attending a class during any semester when absences after the close of registration have exceeded the number of three (3) class hours which the class meets per week. Monday's student attendance is expected from all enrolled students. There is no make-up including required class work or homework assignments, outside listening reviews, quizzes, chapter evaluations, or the final exam if you are absent from class. Students are dropped who are judged to be a disturbance in class. Disruption via private chatting will not be tolerated. Food and beverage during class session are not permitted in class.