

Captioning Resource

Captions are not required by law for live lecturing in a password protected environment when a student has not requested them.

Distance Education Accessibility Guidelines, Page 28

“In order to use non-captioned video, the video must be contained in a secure, password-protected environment, there must be no students requiring captioning, and the video can only be used for a single term.”

Otter for Education.

<https://otter.ai/edu>

200 minutes of free captioning service per month

Sharing information from the National Deaf Center

<https://www.nationaldeafcenter.org/news/remember-accessibility-rush-online-instruction-10-tips-educators>

As colleges and schools scramble to take their teaching online in response to the spread of the Coronavirus disease (COVID-19), educators must not forget — and must know how to make their instruction accessible to — deaf and hard of hearing <<https://www.nationaldeafcenter.org/defining-deaf>> students and their peers.