PROFESSIONAL JUDGMENT OUR POLICIES

Imperial Valley
College

- The Financial Aid Administrator may use professional judgment (PJ) on a case-by-case basis to alter the data elements used to calculate the EFC or to adjust a student's cost of attendance.
- The professional judgment adjustments made by the FAA at Imperial Valley College are valid only at IVC and cannot be transferred to another institution.
- The reasons for an adjustment must be documented in the student's financial aid file and must relate to the special circumstances that differentiate that individual from all other applicants. An aid administrator's decision regarding adjustments is final and cannot be appealed to the Department of Education.
 - Common areas in which professional judgment may apply include dependency overrides, as well as cost of attendance, income, and asset adjustments. However, nothing in the federal regulations limits the authority of the aid administrator to make adjustments for special circumstances.
 - Examples of special circumstances for which professional judgment may apply are:
 - Unusually high medical/dental expenses not covered by insurance
 - Unusually high child care costs
 - Recent unemployment
 - Dramatic reduction in income or assets
 - IRA conversions
 - Professional judgment may also apply for those students seeking independent status due to unusual circumstances. However, the conditions listed below DO NOT qualify as unusual circumstances meriting an override:
 - Parents refuse to contribute to the student's education
 - Parents are unwilling to provide information on the FAFSA or for verification
 - Parents do not claim the student on their income tax returns
 - Student demonstrates total self-sufficiency
 - Unusual circumstances may include an abusive family environment or abandonment by parents.
- A determination of unusual circumstances must be made every award year. The financial aid administrator must affirm in the subsequent year that the conditions continue to exist.
- All requests for professional judgment consideration with supporting documentation must be maintained in the student's financial aid file.
